Dear SPSA members,

We are pleased to send you the second newsletter, featuring numerous event announcements and further information.

The next annual conference will take place from January 9 to 10, 2025, at the University of Geneva. The plenary session will include a lecture by Prof. Mark E. Warren (University of British Columbia) focusing on the role of trust in politics. We would be delighted if you would participate in the conference with your own contribution. The "Call for Proposals" can be found on our website.

If you have not already done so, we would like to remind you to pay the membership fee and ask you to make the payment for the annual fee as soon as possible.

DeFacto

DeFacto is the platform for the dissemination of Swiss political science research. DeFacto features short versions of papers published in scientific journals, summaries of book chapters and other research reports, as well as analyses and commentaries written especially for the platform, in connection with current events. The platform is available to all researchers in political science and related disciplines. Get in touch if you have an interesting publication that you would like to make known to a wider audience! Recently published: A new Pact on Migration and Asylum: What Changes for Responsibility-Sharing in the European Union? (Maud Bachelet, Philipp Lutz) More about DeFacto.

General Information

FORS

Call for Questions/Modules, round IV questionnaire

The Comparative Candidates Survey (CCS) is a joint multi-national project, which collects elite data on candidates running for national parliamentary elections in different countries, using a common core questionnaire to allow for cross-country comparison. They now prepare a 4th series of candidate surveys that will be fielded from 2025 to 2030.

Please submit your proposals by Monday, 10 June 2024.
